Mercury 105 Here at Noon Thursday, Hit 104 Wednesday

RELIEF FOR FOURTH

Thunderclouds Promise Lower Temperatures Friday

It was 105 degrees at 1:30 p. m. Thursday on N. P. O'Neal's government thermometer—the third consecutive hottest day of the year.

Wednesday touched a new high of 104, which beat Tuesday's record of 102.

Thus far July has beaten last year's temperatures on the same days. A year ago July 1st hit 94 degrees. The mercury on July 2 reached 99, and on July 3 it touched 102. The first two days of July this year have shown 104 and 105.

The Weather Man, studying his maps over in Memphis, sees some chance of relief on the eve of the Fourth of July. His forecast to the Associated Press Thursday noon is for local thundershowers in the northern portion of Arkansas Thursday night, and in the southern counties Friday. He promises slightly cooler weather in the central-northwest portions Thursday night, in the south Friday.

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Threatening showers, promised relief to parts of Arkansas Thursday from the intense heat of the last few days.

The temperature in this city Thursday noon was 98, which was one degree under Wednesday's record of 99.

Cornwall was the hottest place in the state Wednesday with 105 degrees.

The heat resulted in five drownings and one prostration death Wednesday, four children dying at DeValls Bluff, one at England and a negro prisoner succumbing to the heat at Little Rock.

Four Children Die Near Devalls Bluff

Drown as They Step in Deep Water Playing Around Boat

DEVALLS BLUFF.—(AP)—Four children drowned in White river near here Wednesday. While wading about a boat, they suddenly stepped into deep water. The victims:

Audrey McDougal, 16, and her sister, Thelma, 14; and Leroy Lumpkin, 9, and his sister, Martha, 7.

Anne Lumpkin, 11, sister of two of the victims, notified employees of a nearby toll bridge and a search was started for the bodies. She could not explain the exact cause of the tragedy. The body of Thelma McDougal was recovered later two miles down the river by fishermen.

Alexa Nell Lumpkin, 4, playing further toward shore, escaped. The six had gone wading to escape the heat. Only one, Audrey McDougal, could swim.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lumpkin of DeValls Bluff, are parents of two of the victims.

Appeal Is Made For Greater Cotton Use

Arkansas Agricultural Heads Asks Ginners to Co-operate

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Earl Page, state commissioner of agriculture, has written to all cotton ginners in Arkansas, appealing to them to co-operate in the national movement to find greater uses for cotton.

He said ginners of the country may increase the consumption this fall some 200,000 bales by using cotton bagging instead of jute. Several manufacturers are making bagging containing 60 per cent cotton and 40 per cent jute, the latter said, and this may be substituted for all jute bagging at an increased cost of about 25 cents a bale, the latter said.

Some mills have indicated that they will allow an additional weight of eight pounds per bale for cotton wrapped with cotton bagging, which Page said will more than offset the difference of cost in the cotton bagging. He suggested that, if concerted action for use of cotton or part cotton bagging cannot be assured otherwise, a meeting of the state ginners association should be called to consider the matter.

Sparkler in Small Boy's Hand Starts Fire That Ruins City

A lighted sparkler in the hands of a small boy set fire to a stock of fireworks and started this $1,000,000 blaze that destroyed 30 buildings, virtually wiping out the business section of Spencer, Iowa, a city of 5,000 population. Three of the city's five business blocks, shown in this striking aerial picture, were razed. Fire fighting equipment from a half dozen nearby towns and hundreds of pounds of dynamite were used to check the fire.

One Badly Burned In Barge Explosion

Blaze Extends Nearly Mile Along Coast on Gulf

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—A special dispatch to the Houston Chronicle Wednesday said property damage estimated at $500,000 was caused at Port Arthur late Wednesday by the explosion of an oil tank barge. One man was seriously burned.

"The blaze, which extended for nearly a mile along the docks of the Gulf Refining company, was started by a blast that rent the oil barge Shenango in two amidships hurling the blazing fuel oil with which the boat was loaded for hundreds of feet."

"D. S. Ocher, dock worker, who was on the wharf beside the Shenango was covered by the flaming fluid. Little hope was held for saving his life, it was said at a hospital."

"Two oil tankers, the Gulf of Mexico and the Currier, the first loaded with gasoline, were in the path of the flaming oil as it spread out over the water and raced along the docks. Wooden superstructures of both ships were burned away. Fire fighting forces were concentrated on the gasoline barge Gulf of Mexico in efforts to prevent ignition of the highly explosive cargo."

"Gulf company officials said damage to the two tank ships was confined to the burning away of the paint on the steel hulls and the loss of the wooden structures above decks."

"A large coke tippie, for loading coke aboard steamships located just a little less than a mile from the spot where the fire started was practically destroyed, together with a quantity of coke awaiting shipment."

"Wooden aprons of the concrete wharves were fired and burned away for practically a mile of dock length."

"Three small tug boats, the Petro, Pate and Lake View, and two motor boats, the June and Chevrolet, moored in the path of the flames were destroyed."

"Charles R. Stevenson, plant manager and owner of the small craft put the damage at $500,000 pending a complete check up."

"The fire was reported under control early Wednesday night."

Round World Flight Completed In Nine Days By Post-Gatty

Big Reception Accorded Pair as Flight Ends Wednesday

MANY AWAIT FLIERS

Record Around World Is Cut From 22 Days to Little Over Week

NEW YORK.—(AP)—This city and millions of citizens who are a part of it gave to two tired men Thursday the sort of welcome reserved for spectacular guests.

Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, back after girdling the globe in less than nine days to break all records found the metropolis at the peak of enthusiasm.

The fliers rode in parade through lanes of cheering thousands.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y.—(AP)—Cutting the round-the-world record from also 22 days to little more than a week, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed at dusk Wednesday night on this field they left at dawn on an earth-girdling race against time less than nine days ago.

The welcome accorded them was so boisterous that the fliers fled the field. In near riotous scenes police struggled to preserve order, and fists were swung in angry altercations which threatened to develop into a serious disturbance.

It was dusk before Post and Gatty arrived. At 6:44 p. m. C. S. T. the fliers first were sighted. Three minutes and a half later, twice circling the field with their wing lights glowing against the purple eastern sky, they set the plane lightly down half a mile from the administration building.

Elapsed time of the 16,600 mile flight around the world, a flight which famous aviators Wednesday night called the greatest achievement in the history of aviation, was just eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes.

The previous world-girdling record, established by the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin two years ago, was almost 22 days. So Post and Gatty although they took almost nine days to get around the world, only spent four days, 10 hours and eight minutes of this time in the air.

England's famous 'round-the-world fliers, have seen in slightly more than a week. This unique sketch and picture layout shows some of the scenes and picturesque people along the route of the intrepid airmen. Starting from New York on Tuesday, the fliers reached Harbor Grace, N. F., the same day, landed in England and continued on to Germany on Wednesday, arrived in Moscow on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, arrived in Alaska on Monday, Leave Fairbanks, Alaska, Tuesday for Edmonton, Alberta, Wednesday morning they left Edmonton for the homeward flight, landing at Roosevelt Field, New York at 6:44 p. m.

Struggling In Auto Leads to Wreck

Hurled Through Windshield F. H. Douglas of Near England Hurt

ENGLAND.—F. H. Douglas, aged 42, was taken to a Little Rock hospital Wednesday in a serious condition as result of loss of blood following an automobile accident about a mile and a half from here. It was reported that the accident followed an attempt by Douglas to put his sister-in-law out of his moving auto, during which he lost control of the car. Douglas' chest was cut badly when he went through the windshield of the car.

Douglas was married in Little Rock Sunday to June Antell, aged 14, who lives on the Tom Barron plantation near here. Douglas lives on the E. A. Carl-Lee plantation, also near here.

Chief of Police Whyne of England said the girl refused to live with her husband and returned to her home. Wednesday morning Douglas went to the home of his bride and tried to persuade her to come to England with him. She consented on condition that her sister, Lillie Killen, accompany them. When the auto neared England Douglas is said to have attempted to force his sister-in-law from the car. She jumped from the car and in the struggle Douglas' wife shut off the ignition switch of the auto and jumped also.

When Douglas reached for her he lost control of the car, which went into a ditch. Douglas was thrown through the windshield. Mrs. Douglas suffered a bruised arm.

Dr. S. S. Beatty of England gave first aid and sent the patient to a Little Rock hospital.

Post and Gatty Spent Half of Time in Air

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, in their flight around the world, spent just about half their time in the air.

Of the eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes which elapsed between their take-off and landing at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., their actual flying time aggregated four days, 10 hours and eight minutes.

The remaining time was divided unevenly between their 13 halting points. At Harbor Grace, Chester, England; Hanover, Germany; Irkutsk, Siberia; Solomon, Alaska; and Cleveland, O., they waited only long enough to obtain gasoline and navigation data, and stretch cramped limbs.

At Berlin, Moscow, Novo-Sibirsk, Fairbanks, Alaska, and Edmonton, Alta., they slept briefly. The bogging of the Winnie Mae in the mud of Blagoveshchensk held them up 14½ hours, and at the following stop, Khabarovsk, Siberia, they made their most extended stay of 26½ hours before hopping from the old world back to the new.

Their average speed was approximately 145 miles an hour.

Texas Officer On Trial For Slaying

John L. McCall, Accused of Killing Convict, Pleads Self-Defense

TEXARKANA.—John L. McCall, chief deputy sheriff of Bowie county, Texas, went to trial in the Arkansas side Circuit Court Wednesday charged with murder in connection with the slaying of George Griffin, parolee convict from the Texas penitentiary.

A jury was completed at noon, taking of testimony began on the convening of court at 1:30 in the afternoon. McCall pleaded not guilty, alleging self defense. Griffin was killed last January at his home on the Arkansas side of Texarkana during a raid of the house by Arkansas officers in search of liquor. Griffin had recently returned from the penitentiary and moved into Arkansas. Texas officers instigated the raid to have Griffin's parole revoked if liquor was discovered, but none was found. McCall accompanied the Arkansas officers on the raid.

It is said that McCall had worked up a case against Griffin on a chicken theft charge which resulted in Griffin's going to the penitentiary last year. Griffin was bitter toward McCall, and when the latter entered his home with the raiding party, began cursing him, it was said. McCall alleged that Griffin, who was sitting on the side of a bed, suddenly lunged toward him and threw his hand back. McCall said that he fired twice in self defense. An Arkansas officer in the room at the time testified that Griffin made no threatening movement.

This officer and Griffin's widow were chief witnesses for the state. Nine witnesses had testified when court adjourned last day. The state has one more witness, and expects to rest its case soon after court convenes Thursday. The defense has about 30 witnesses, many of whom are character witnesses. The list includes District Judge Johnson, Sheriff Brooks of the Texas side, and former District Attorney R. G. Waters, now assistant attorney general of Texas.

The hearing has aroused intense interest in Miller and Bowie counties, and many persons from both sides of the state line are attending.

Suspension Causes Body To Adjourn

One of Few Times House Has Taken Action on Like Cause

LONDON.—(AP)—The house of commons was adjourned by the speaker Thursday afternoon following a grave disorder provoked by the left wing of the laborites, who resisted the suspension of one of their number.

The offending member was J. McGovern of Glasgow, who voiced his objection to the speakers ruling and Prime Minister MacDonald moved his suspension.

Then followed a melee while the conservatives sat silent and aghast. This is one of a few times in history that adjournment has been taken because of disorders.

A Thought

Honesty is the best policy, but he who acts on that principle is not an honest man.—Richard Whately.

Guidance in Music

WHEN little Willie shows that he has unusual talent for playing the violin, his parents usually see glittering visions of a highly salaried child prodigy and start putting him through the grind that will make him a professional concert musician.

Once in a great while it works, and little Willie follows in the footsteps of Elman and Heifetz. More often, however, it does not. Willie becomes just another fiddler, and he discovers too late that his whole childhood was wasted.

All of this, of course, isn't a problem that the average parent needs to worry about. But it is an illustration of the attitude parents are too apt to take when their children show musical ability; and a remark recently made at the convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs by Mrs. Elmer J. Cotaway, president of the federation, is worth bearing in mind.

"Parents must be taught," she said, "that merely because their youngsters show musical talent is no reason for intensely preparing them for a professional career. Music for its own sake is the fundamental joy."

There is a lot of good sense to that remark. Sometimes it seems as if the United States today had too many professional musicians—a lot of whom, by the way, are not eating regular these days—and too few amateurs. Parents are always willing to stand the expense of musical training if they believe that their young hopeful can cash in on it when he goes out into the world. They are not so willing when they know that he will never make a cent out of it.

But there are few things that give one more solid enjoyment, during the course of a lifetime, than the ability to play some musical instrument passably well. There is a spiritual relaxation to be found in music that you produce yourself that cannot be gained in no other way. Even the poor wight who can play nothing but the newest jazz knows this is true.

An that is not the whole of it. Knowing how to play enables one to get more enjoyment from the music the professionals produce. The best possible way to learn to appreciate great music is to learn how to play yourself.

Parents who guide their child carefully toward intimate acquaintance with some musical instrument, with no thought of public performances, are giving the child a possession that will be priceless later on.

On Taking Husbands

THE reason that a great many men and women aren't marrying isn't just because the men have decided that they can't afford wives. It is because a great many women have decided that they can't afford husbands.

At least, this is the opinion expressed in a recent interview in EveryWeek Magazine by Dr. Charles Francis Potter, founder of the First Humanist Society in New York City. Dr. Potter has used New York City, in whose heart he has preached for many years, as a practical observatory.

Women who have been economically independent dislike making a man for money to buy a powder puff or get a permanent wave. They have no special yearning to be subservient to a man's wishes, either. The day of the liege-lord, and Alice who trembled in fear when Ben Bolt frowned, is as far gone as smelling salts and other relics of the dear, dead days beyond recall. So Dr. Potter has found it.

There is something a little dangerous in this situation. Those girls and women who have reached the stage of economic success which makes them hesitate to exchange a desk for a stove are as a rule the most gifted and capable of their sex.

If they would apply the same ability which they have used to achieve a successful career to the making of their homes, they would have equal success. Even greater, for a woman is more at home by a hearth than a typewriter, in spite of the so-called emancipation that she likes to talk about.

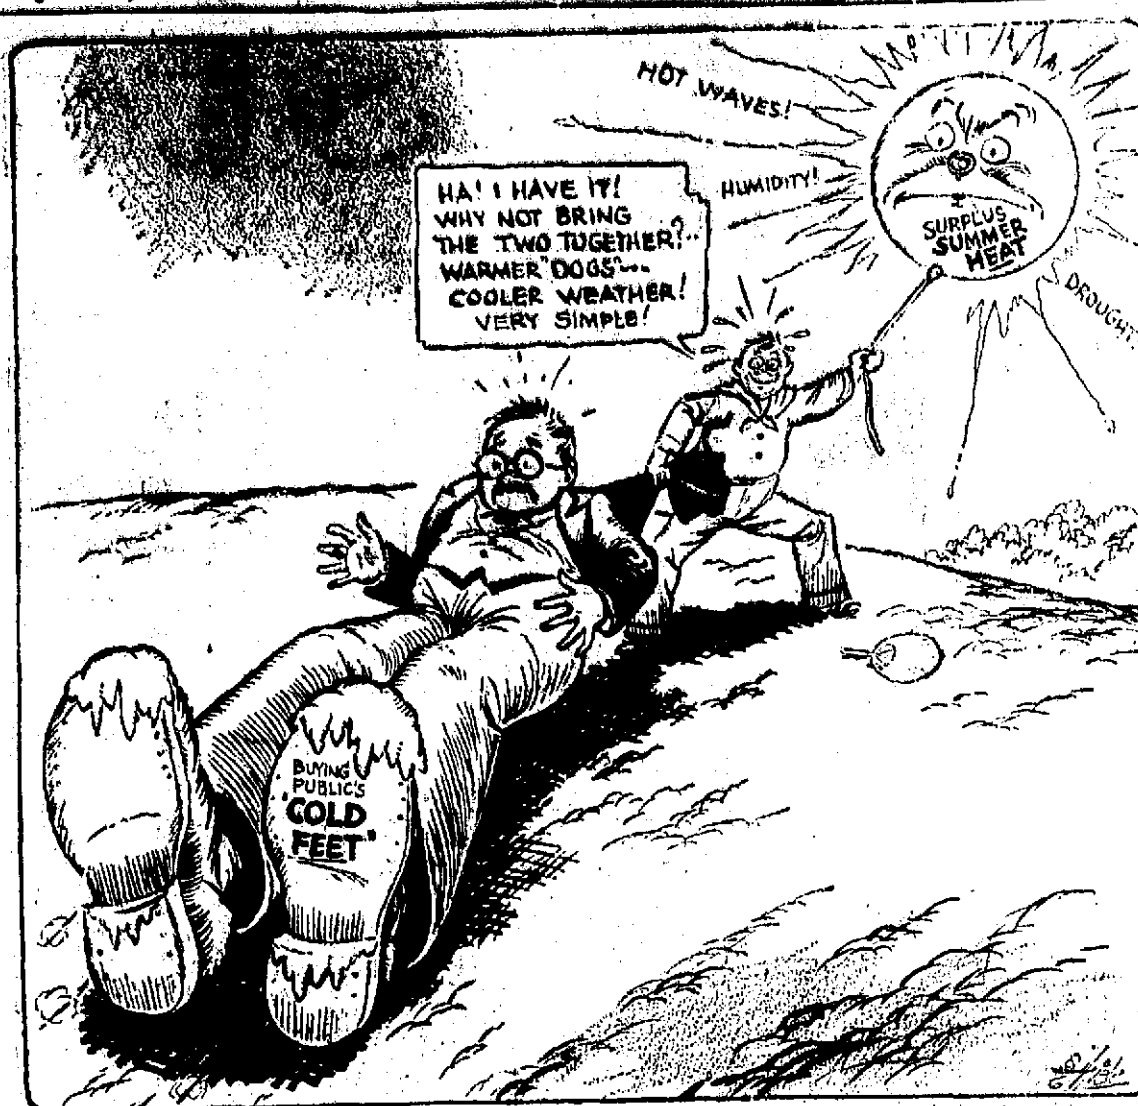

It isn't women that are at fault so much as it is the institution of marriage. People forget sometimes that there are two personalities involved. The twain shall become one flesh, the ministers say, but no one has yet discovered two minds with but a single thought. And it is the woman who errs just as often as it is the man. She forgets to live up to her part of the companionship, home-making bargain.

It is the knowledge, though, that she will be tempted to do this that makes her afraid to take a chance.

Still, it would seem that Dr. Potter needn't worry too seriously as long as there are summer moons, pink organdies, star-splashed beaches and crooning tenors in the world. The old biological urge is stronger than the economic.

And enough of the women who can't afford husbands will probably decide that they don't care if they can or they can't—they will take them anyway—to keep the world peopled at least until the third or fourth generation.

Quick, Watson! We've Solved the Hot Weather Problem!

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—One of the surest signs that summer is here is to be seen in the fact that the wheels of the Republican and Democratic publicity mimeographs are creaking a bit. It's a way wheels have in Washington during the summertime and those particular wheels serve as the best barometer because they are ordinarily so much busier than any others.

There is no legitimate reason why anyone should have to read about politics during the heat instead of devoting attention to Cornelius Vanderbilt, Peter Arno and Starr Faithfull, so don't you go paying any mind to these outbursts of the two major party national committees unless that's your idea of warm weather entertainment.

But you can depend on those mimeographs to creak right along and sometimes even to break into a screech in the effort to keep you attracted.

Already you can hear the Republican machine in a shrill shriek, as if convinced that the best summer tactics lie in the hurrying of hard names and hard words which are bound to draw at least passing notice. And the Democratic machine, in its turn, strains with a grinding crunch in the common effort to make a great deal out of not very much, even verging on illiteracy in its haste.

Shouse a Robot

There is no very good reason why Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, in one of the Republican National Committee outbursts, should call Executive Chairman J. J. Shouse "one of the talking robots of the Democratic National Committee." That's childish, even when designed to impress mere voters. Mr. Shouse isn't a robot at all. Mr. Shouse is a smart, cagey politician, with much more than ordinary urbanity, who has captained the program of organization and publicity which the Democrats regard as leading up to a presidential victory next year. It has been ever so long since anyone suggested that either of the Republican chairmen, Senator Fess and Robert H. Lucas, were nearly as capable or valuable political leaders as Mr. Shouse.

There are robots in both parties

If you refer to as robots those members of Congress who have public statements written for them and issued by the national committees, but maybe that means that Senator Dickinson is a robot. Mr. Shouse, however, has charge of the Democratic publicity mimeograph and pulls his own strings when he jumps, so it seems as if Senator Dickinson or his national committee were beginning to get hysterical. That impression is strengthened when Dickinson refers to one of Shouse's statements as "characteristically false in fact, fraudulent in implication and hypocritical in conception."

But the Democrats can do just as bad and worse. Just watch them, if you must.

The Byrns Bombshell
 From them, just the other day, came a statement credited to Senator Caraway of Arkansas about the big meeting of "Young Republicans" here. This one was so full of awkward sentences and paragraphs that any reporter on almost any newspaper who wrote in such style would be soon fired. Spots of poor grammar heightened the effect.

More illustrative, however, of how points have to be stretched these days by parties which want to avoid most of the important issues, is the committee-produced statement of Congressman Joe Byrns of Tennessee, one of the Democratic fiscal sharks, about increased expenses of the Department of Commerce. The Byrns bombshell was the revelation that under Mr. Hoover the expenses of the department had risen from about $20,000,000 a year to $38,500,000 a year and the number of its employees increased from 16,500 to nearly 24,000. The Bureau of Aeronautics, it was pointed out, cost about $4,400,000 last year. And of course various other new bureaus were annexed during the Hoover incumbency.

In case you remember what the Commerce Department was when Hoover took it over and what it was when he left it you may have concluded that this is a remarkable slant from which to attack the Hoover record. But, as one was saying, it's going to be a long, hard summer.

Can't is the worst word that's written at spoken; Doing more harm here than slander and lies. On it is many a strong spirit broken, And with it many a good purpose dies. It springs from the lips of the thoughtless each morning And robs us of courage we need through the day; It rings in our ears like a timely warning And laughs when we falter and fall by the way. Can't is the word that is foe to ambition, An enemy ambushed to shatter your will; Its prey is forever the man with a mission And bows but to courage and patience and skill. Hate it, with hatred that's deep and undying, For once it is welcome 'twill break any man; Whatever the goal you are seeking keep trying And answer this demon by saying: "I can." —E. A. Guest.

Changes in Cotton Bags—More than 600 cars of oranges have been shipped in cotton bags this year. The bags to the car, inaugurating a "consumer bag" system which is winning popular approval. Eighteen to twenty bags are packed in the car, ready for sale by retailers. These bags are packed two and a half times as fast as the same number of oranges could be packed in crates. Cotton bags for oranges and potatoes also are finding wider use; a duplex bag having been developed with one side woven so that labels may be placed on the other side, meshed for the desired exposure to air and to allow inspection of contents.

Co-operative pecan marketing associations acted favorably on the cotton bagging proposal at their recent national gathering in Jackson, Miss. The American Cotton Co-operative Association is actively assisting in organization and finance, the campaigns of the national and state associations for increased use of cotton, and similar assistance is being rendered by the various state and regional cotton co-operative associations.

Watson Porter, another farmer, harvested 576 bales of oat hay from six acres. The oats followed soybeans and needed no fertilizer. She is a very popular girl and is known for her beauty and her kind heart. She is a member of the Gamma chapter of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. shot his cuffs and favored the very quick one with a baleful stare. "He's the kind of bird who sets his picture on the front pages when a man-hunt is on," he said.

"See here, my good man," slipping his card in the direction of the furious electrician. "If ever I hear of you annoying the Duchess again I'll have my three pet police captains on your neck with charges that won't sound pretty with the morning coffee."

Diamond stuck out his arm and Liane crooked her fingers over it gratefully. "I'll see you to your carriage," he told her.

"You were wonderful just now," Liane murmured as they walked down the road.

"Where's this here-now Miss Ladd gone and snatched away to?" demanded Charles Desmond, attacking the inevitable cigarette between his lips and hunting in five separate pockets for the non-existent match. "Here it's my day off and every thing and I get on my bike and trail away out here to find her missing!"

LIANE started to explain but thought better of it. "She—she went home," she finished lamely. "Got herself another boy friend?" he inquired.

"There was — somebody just dropped in," improvised Muriel's friend.

"Oh, yeah?" Desmond appeared doubtful. "Well, I can't waste the entire evening just because she changed her mind. How about you trotting off and having dinner with me? I can't eat alone. I'm funny that way. Been so since earliest childhood."

"Oh, dear, if mother only would let me!" cried Liane childishly. "Well, there's nothing like inquiring," Chuck said.

Liane introduced the pair and to her utter amazement Case beamed on the young man.

"Wasn't your mother Grace Franks, who played Shakespearean roles long ago?" she inquired.

Charles said "yes" very solemnly. "I thought so," Case nodded. "You run along, Liane, and change your dress while I talk to Mr. Desmond. There are so many things I want to ask him."

Will wonders never cease, thought Liane, as she hastily slipped into her one presentable frock.

Chuck Desmond was funny. He was nice, even though he wasn't the "Not Impossible He." She realized she would have a hard time squaring herself with Muriel if that young woman ever learned the truth.

"What are you thinking about?" inquired that irrefragable young man, Chuck Desmond.

"Wondering if Muriel will mind my bagging her young man."

"No, no, then I'm advertised as such," he pretended to be annoyed.

"You are," Liane dimpled at him. Desmond surveyed her with interest. "You're pretty nice, easy on the eye. How come you haven't a permanent boy trailing you?"

She tossed her head, enjoying herself. "How do you know I haven't?"

"Sorry, I was just fishing."

Liane thought, "This is good practice for me. Maybe the next time I see Van Roubard, I won't be such a school-girlish idiot."

Her heart pounded at the thought, "Next time I see him."

For of course, she would. And soon!

A Kingly Service

No longer a ruler, but always a sportsman. King Alfonso of Spain was greatly concerned when one of the members of a polo team was injured during a match at the Roehampton Club, London. This remarkable picture shows the Bourbon king as he bent solicitously over the Hon. C. Douglas to light the injured athlete's cigarette.

Celestial Avigation Factor In Fate of Lindbergh Flight

By OSCAR LEIDING

WASHINGTON—(P)—Celestial avigation may play a prominent role in the Lindberghs' visit to the Orient.

The flying colonel and his wife will be able to enlist the sun by day and stars by night in fixing their position and maintaining their course.

When the Lone Eagle headed for Paris, he navigated by dead reckoning. On the new adventure with his wife, there will be greater wisdom to be drawn upon to answer the question, "Where are we?"

Both Able "Avigators" Both, as well as being able pilots, are able "avigators," with special training in the use of sextants, chronometer and book of tables, the equipment for celestial avigation.

Colonel Lindbergh was instructed in their use in April and May, 1928, by Lieut. Comm. P. V. H. Weems, now an instructor in navigation at the U. S. naval academy.

He had received one of the first

Lefty Grove Wins Against Ferrell

Athletic's Veteran Star Beats Cleveland's Young Ace

A famous veteran met a famous youngster in the pitcher's box at Cleveland Wednesday—and the veteran beat the youngster.

The veteran was Robert (Lefty) Grove, star of the Philadelphia Athletics, and opposed to him was Wesley Ferrell, 23-year-old ace of the Cleveland Indians. It was the first clash of these two pitchers—and Grove beat Ferrell 4 to 3. Each team made 11 hits, but the A's converted a double, a walk and a single into their winning run in the eighth inning.

The Washington Senators again lost ground in second place, bowing to the St. Louis Browns 4-3 for the second consecutive defeat. The Yankees defeated Detroit 4-2, and the Boston Red Sox beat Chicago 5-3.

In the National League, Wednesday's outstanding event was a triple play executed by the Phillies in beating the Chicago Cubs 11-6. The triple play was Mallon to Friberg to Bartell.

The St. Louis Cardinals were spilled by the Giants 4-3 in a game played at New York, cutting the Cardinal lead to 2 1/2 games, with New York in second place. The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated Cincinnati 3-1, and Pittsburgh beat the Boston Braves 4-1, in the other National League games.

Twelve Acres of Fabric Form Cells For Akron

AKRON.—(AP)—Tailors who think in terms of acres instead of square yards are part of the force fitting the navy airship Akron for flight.

Their work is the construction of the giant helium cells which require more than 12 acres of material. The cells, 12 in number and "tailored to measure" according to the niches they will fill within the dirigible, will house 6,500,000 cubic feet of lifting gas.

Average Pilot in 1930 Found Paycheck Leaner

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Pliers' paychecks, on an average, were leaner in 1930 than the year before.

An analysis of figures on the progress of civil aeronautics by the department of commerce shows that pilots in scheduled air transport operations received an average of $400 a month, $90 less than in 1929.

Fargo Fighter Floo's Foreign Favorite

And that was that. Justo Suarez, of the Argentine, and lightweight title aspirant, had been favored to win over Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, in their scheduled ten-round match at Madison Square Garden, New York. But in one of the most spectacular ring battles in recent years the North Dakota veteran administered a severe beating that was climaxed by a hard right-hand drive that sent Suarez down and out. Here's the scene as Referee Haley finished the count that spelled defeat but not disgrace to the vanquished fighter.

Divorced Pair Take Other Mates Same Day

NEW YORK.—By a strange coincidence Adrian H. Lamp, art connoisseur from the Netherlands, and his ex-wife, the former Ruth Cady O'Brien, both remarried on the same day, it was revealed Thursday.

Lamp, who withdrew a $75,000 alienation suit against his wife's millionaire father shortly before she received a Reno divorce decree, was married to Helen Dulles, divorcee with a $1,000,000 settlement, at Greenwich, Ct., June 30.

A few hours later the first Mrs. Lamp became the bride of L. Edward Flaherty, patent attorney.

Canadian Minister Warms to Task

It wasn't the warm welcome he received at the White House, nor was it nervousness from presenting his credentials as the new Canadian Minister to the United States that made William Duncan Horridge perspire the other day. It was 40 pounds of official uniform—close-fitting, heavily gold-braided, and air-tight—worn on one of the hottest days of the Washington summer. Horridge, shown at left, with Richard Southgate, acting chief of the division of international conferences, rejoiced that the ultra-formal attire is to be worn on rare occasions.

Arkansas Recovery Is Shown in Survey

Surveys of Arkansas conducted this spring and summer by building and loan companies reflect substantial improvement, and the almost certain prospect of record-breaking crops this fall. A bulletin just issued by the Union Savings Building & Loan association, Little Rock, makes this summary of letters received from correspondents in every section of the state:

"They paint a most optimistic picture of our great state, and of much better times for next fall and winter. Wonderful crops, lots of feed and food, splendid gardens and people canning vegetables, berries and fruit. What a wonderful lesson we have learned. Babylon says he will stake his reputation on the prediction that we are headed for the best era of prosperity we have ever enjoyed. Let's help make it come true."

Noted Lion Hunter of Texas Is Dead

"Queenie," Leader of Dog Pack Known By Famous Hunters

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. — (AP) —

Queenie, famous leader of the most famous pack of dogs in Texas, is dead.

This veteran leader of the lion hunting dogs of the Snow brothers, Luther and Bob, walked up to her master the other day, placed her nose in his hand, and dropped dead.

For seven years, Queenie had led the pack of Snow dogs, which has created a national reputation by lion hunting. The dogs were taken into Mexico, where they displayed equal ability at jaguar hunting.

Governors and many other visitors hunted behind the pack dogs, and always it was a who outsmarted the lion and them.

While the Snow brothers frequently lost dogs that were too impetuous and would charge into lions or wild animals, Queenie always was careful to avoid being injured by these dangerous foes. She bit an occasional scratch, but always lashed the hunts with only minor injuries.

The entire pack of 15 or more dogs had been grouped around Queenie.

ARDMORE, Okla.—(AP)—Firing a moving form in underbrush, he believed to be a wolf, Ed Kight, wounded his brother, J. K. Kight, also a farmer. The two were hunting on timbered land near Pooleville, miles northwest of Ardmore. Kight, father of five children.
